

Mr. Moose can be in his 30s or early 40s. He's an extreme outdoorsmoose. Loves the slopes or anything totally extreme. He's kind and always there to give a helping hoof to others.

As the kids arrive at the bottom of Willow Hill, they see MR. MOOSE with his tools, helping Sally fix her skis.

MR. MOOSE

Okay, Sally, those skis should be nice and tight now. You're ready to go!

SALLY

Thanks, Mr. Moose.

Sally tries to shimmy along in her skis but isn't progressing much.

SALLY

Uh... Mr. Moose...

MR. MOOSE

Oh, sorry, Sally. Let me give you a boost.

Mr. Moose gets up and gives Sally a gentle nudge, which sends her and her skis gliding away.

SALLY
(getting further away)
Thank yooooouuuuuu!

MR. MOOSE
I declare Willow Hill is now open!

This announcement is met with <CHEERS> from the kids.

As Sally glides past them on her skis, Elinor, Olive, and Ari walk up to Mr. Moose.

MR. MOOSE
Hey, kids! You ready for some fun in the snow?

ARI
We sure are!
(re: bike)
And I have the perfect thing to go down Willow Hill on.

MR. MOOSE
Oh, really? What is it?

ARI
My bike, of course! It's super fast, and it's got mountain bike tires! Perfect for hills!

We then see a close-up of Ari's tires, which have big grooves in them for going up mountains.

Mr. Moose isn't so sure about that, but he isn't going to rain on Ari's parade.

MR. MOOSE
Are you sure about that, Ari?

ARI Absolutely!

MR. MOOSE
Alright then, just be careful and have fun!
